MESSAGE FROM

The Chair

The year that has gone by has been a year of change and transition for us at the Centre for Civil Society (CCS). In the year when nearly a billion people have exercised their right to franchise to elect a new government in the world's largest democracy, it is worth reiterating what we do at CCS:

“We champion individual choice, institutional accountability and social change through public policy by carrying out evidence-based research in education, livelihoods and governance.”

This year has been a year of change at CCS as our new CEO, Dr Amit Chandra, settled down into his role and set the priorities and directions for CCS for the next 3-5 years. There was a renewed focus on research, engagement with youth through the work of CCS Academy and continued work on street vendor rights and the Bolo English program. I would like to highlight two specific achievements:

1. Onboarded 6,300 street vendors on the Jeevika mobile app and helped resolve 120 complaints out of a total of 123 registered complaints by the street vendors.
2. Provided training to 6,431 teachers from 407 low-cost private schools from 21 states to enhance their capacity to teach English. It is expected that this initiative would help improve the learning of about 2.5 lakh students.

At a time when there is rising debate on the role of samaj (society), sarkar (government) and bazaar (markets), institutions like CCS have to play a very important role to ensure that individual choices in the sphere of personal, economic and political spheres do not get trampled upon. At the same time, an institution like CCS has to speak up and champion the cause of individuals who possibly lack a voice or whose voices are unheard of. Our work on livelihood, street vendors and budget schools are an endeavour in this direction. CCSs work in these and other areas has been well recognized during the year and research papers written by our scholars have been presented at and/ or published in various forums like Mercatus Center, Journal of Social Choice, Markets and Society Journal, and FLAME University, among others. I would like to thank each and every member of the CCS team for their work during the year.

I have another most exciting piece of information to share with you. Last month we received the news that Dr Parth Shah, our founder, has received the prestigious 2024 Sir Antony Fisher Achievement Award by the Atlas Network, which will be presented on November 21, 2024 in New York City. It is a fitting tribute to Parth's work over the last 25+ years and time for us to renew our pledge to work for the economic freedom of 1.4 billion people of India.

Later this year, we will be hosting our largest event ever – the General Meeting of the Mont Pelerin Society. MPS 2024 will bring some of the brightest liberal minds to India. The theme is “Freedom & Prosperity for the Next 6 Billion” and participants will address both contemporary and longstanding challenges to freedom and prosperity on a global scale. Thank you for your continued support in championing the work that we love to do at CCS – social change through public policy.

Warm regards,

Luis Miranda

MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

I am delighted to present the Centre for Civil Society's (CCS) annual report for 2023-24. Looking back to the past, I am filled with joy, pride and gratitude. Joy for coming back to CCS to do what I love the most, pride in what we have been able to achieve and grateful for the constant guidance provided by the Board members and others in the network. It is overwhelming to find such support that gives us much-needed confidence to take up challenging assignments. I am humbled to be back and proudly wear the badge of CCS.

We are, slowly but steadily, moving towards our vision of expanding choices for people, accountability for institutions, and competition in the market. We got to publish research papers and presented at reputed universities and conferences in the area of school education, street vending, agricultural land leasing, rule of law, freedom & prosperity, public service delivery, ocean economy and ecology of Sundarban. We are constantly improving our policy training programs with a variety of online and offline offerings. We are slowly increasing our presence on digital media and need to do much more. We have created a mobile application to help street vendors to realise the benefits of the law on street vending. We are also using learner-centric mobile-based technology to build proficiency in spoken English to the students of low-cost private schools and train the teachers to develop their capacity. These are direct solutions to expand economic freedom and social mobility. It will let people exercise their agency to flourish.

While we have been successful in identifying barriers to human flourishing across thematic areas, we need to work towards removing the barriers. This will require our ideas to be translated into impact. Our ultimate goal must be to bring positive change in people's lives. We must also constantly build our capacity and improve efficiency in day-to-day operations. We have included 'excellence in execution' in the organisation's guiding values.

For Prosperity,

Dr Amit Chandra
Chief Executive Officer

Education

“Expanding Education Choice For Millions”

CCS takes a holistic approach to education, working at multiple levels, from direct implementation through initiatives in schools to policy development.

This comprehensive engagement includes contributing to state regulatory profiles, hosting consultations, conducting teacher training sessions, etc.

Mercatus Center Invited us to present our paper on Missing Rule of Law in K-12 Education at the Markets and Society Conference, attended by over 200 participants. In a milestone achievement for CCS' research team, our paper on ‘Responsiveness of K-12 Education providers’ received a positive response from the Journal of School Choice, a leading journal in the world.

A REPORT CARD FOR DELHI: UNDERSTANDING THE EDUCATION LANDSCAPE

CCS conducted consultations on the state of K-12 education in Delhi and Haryana with school owners, teachers, and researchers to discuss the loopholes in the regulatory framework and challenges. The discussion ranged from themes like teacher qualifications and motivation to school financing.

GENDER SENSITIZATION AND SEXUAL HEALTH AWARENESS

- Teacher Training session on Comprehensive Sexuality Education: On 13 September 2023, under the Dharampal Fellowship and the Gender Sensitization & Sexual Health Awareness project, supported by FNF South Asia, we conducted a session on Comprehensive Sexuality on Education for teachers in budget private schools. Experts from the Population Foundation of India facilitated the session, covering topics such as gender and identity, adolescent growth and change, consent and boundaries, and debunking common myths. Additionally, they discussed pedagogical techniques and the importance of equipping educators to foster a positive and safe learning environment for students.
- Gender Sensitization Session for School Students: On October 30, 2023, we conducted a "Gender Sensitization" workshop at Hari Vidya Bhawan School in Sangam Vihar, Delhi, in collaboration with Pratisandhi Foundation. Supported by the Friedrich Naumann Foundation South Asia, this initiative aimed to provide Comprehensive Sexuality Education to students and teachers in budget private schools across India, fostering inclusivity. The workshop, the first of a three-session program for eighth-grade students, featured thought-provoking activities and covered topics such as sex and gender differences, gender roles, sensitization, and the distinction between gender equality and equity.

BLUE CURRICULUM FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE PROJECT

CCS published a study, 'Unlocking the Blue Potential', which aims to chart a course through the vast ocean of possibilities within the Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation (BIMSTEC) countries. Supported by the Friedrich Naumann Foundation South Asia, this study serves as our initial foray into this uncharted territory, striving to unravel the intricacies of Ocean Literacy in the region.

Ocean Wonders Activity Book:

Rooted in the vision of fostering ocean awareness and conservation in the South Asian region, our team published an activity book to provide a captivating learning experience for elementary-level students. This book serves as a catalyst for interactive exploration and comprehensive ocean education. Over 150 copies of the book were distributed in Hari Vidya Bhawan, a budget private school in Delhi.

Blue Curriculum for Life workbook and manual prepared and published. The purpose of this guidebook is to empower educators with practical strategies to encourage collaboration and provide real-world examples to easily integrate sustainability dialogues into their teaching practices. The activities provide a scope for co-creation of knowledge, participatory learning, nurturing of values and personalized learning pathways through hands-on activities, case studies, group work, individual and collective reflections and dialogues, experiments, exercises, and information. The activity and collaborative mode of learning and co-creation of materials and documentation of their individual and collective learnings as charts, posters, notes, etc. enable educators and learners can also simultaneously access informally and collectively their learning progress, gaps in understanding, new knowledge, critical thinking opportunities, and several other indicators of assessment of learning outcomes. Educators may find the activity-based mode of learning and facilitation as a useful methodology for continuous evaluations in non-formal settings and analyzing the effectiveness of such co-created learning strategies.

STATE REGULATORY PROFILES ON EDUCATION:

School education in India is governed by both the Union and state governments. At the national level, the Right to Education (RTE) Act, 2009 provides a framework for schools, states have enacted ~145 Acts to govern school education. State education departments wield power to issue circulars, regulate private schools, and run government schools. As a result, these departments act as both the players and regulators in school education. Recognising this conflict of interest, the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 recommended setting up an independent regulator—the State School Standards Authority (SSSA). This regulator will monitor all schools (government and private) on some minimum standards, ensuring regulatory symmetry. Setting up the SSSA will require a modification of existing laws and taking stock of the current status of K-12 education in states.

To chart the way forward for states, CCS started creating state regulatory profile reports that examine state-level regulatory framework highlighting the hits and misses. Reports for Delhi and Haryana were published on the CCS website.

LEGAL WIN FOR STREET VENDORS THROUGH JEEVIKA APP

The Jeevika App has empowered street vendors like Sanjay Mishra, Anil Bhagat, and Bhupender to challenge unjust fines and evictions, setting precedents for fair treatment and improved regulations, as demonstrated by significant legal victories and the resumption of operations for vendors in the Yusuf Sarai market dispute. Details of these cases can be found on jeevika.org.

ONGOING RESEARCH ON FIGHT FOR SURVIVAL IN THE SUNDARBANS

Sundarbans, its ecological diversity, and its people—especially the fishing community—face destruction. Sundarbans and its mangrove forests have provided shelter and livelihoods to millions of people and supported an ecological diversity not found elsewhere. However, the livelihood of the fishing community of the Sundarbans's low-lying region is under existential threat.

RESEARCHING REALITY COMPENDIUM

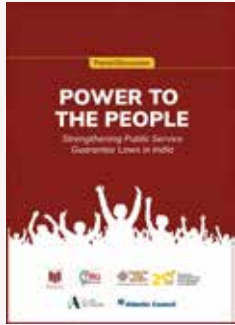

This year the compendium published as a result of CCS' flagship Researching Reality program, was titled 'Aam Aadmi in Conversation with the Constitution of India'. The Constitution of India is the cornerstone of the country's legal and political framework. It embodies the ideals and principles that guide the Government. While discussions on the Constitution are often relegated to academic and policy debates, it is essential to understand its impact on the everyday lives of ordinary citizens—the Aam Aadmi. In this compendium, we uncovered the thoughts and experiences of people living under the Constitution of India. The compendium explores the perspectives of Indian citizens about the principles and ideas enshrined in the Constitution. It reflects the evolving aspirations, expectations, and perspectives of the people. It emphasises the need for open dialogue, comprehensive reform, and governance in tune with the pulse of the citizenry.

VALUE BASED OUTREACH AND KNOWLEDGE PARTNERSHIPS

Onboarded Stones2Milestones as our learning partner, a company with 14 years of expertise in capacity building of teachers. We followed a reading-led approach to help teachers master the language and improve their communication skills. We onboarded 9148 teachers across 407 schools in 21 states covering more than 2,50,000 students through this program.

Onboarded National Independent Schools Alliance (NISA) as the outreach partner, specifically to enhance the reach and impact of our project to Budget Private Schools (BPS) in India. NISA is a national federation of state level associations of Budget Private Schools, and is linked to approximately 100,000 schools nationwide. Through the NISA network we reached out to 4503 teachers from 11 states.

PROJECT DESIGN: ENHANCED HYBRID APPROACH

In schools worldwide, English is crucial for communication and student development. Teachers' proficiency in English builds rapport and fosters a better learning environment, enhancing not just student motivation and communication, but also performance and grades. Therefore, we adopted a teacher training model this year to empower educators. Our interventions confirmed this approach's effectiveness. Recognizing the limits of technology alone, we introduced in-person masterclasses alongside online sessions for teachers. We also launched an awards-based incentive model for schools and teachers to increase participation in Bolo English interventions. This included honouring 100 top-performing teachers and 51 schools at an event on March 18, 2024, at India Habitat Centre, New Delhi.

MASTERCLASSES ON COMMUNICATION SKILLS:

We have conducted three in-person masterclasses in February at Sirsa, New Delhi and Ambala. The sessions aimed at equipping the teachers with the art of clarity in Communication, techniques of engaging the audience, and the role of feedback in communication. The teachers also receive online training through masterclasses on topics like Comprehend to Communicate, Reading techniques, Effective Written Communication, and Mastering English Communication for Educators.

Over 150 teachers of Sirsa joined our in-person Bolo English masterclass on February 10th on Mastering English Communication for Educators.

New Delhi and Ambala chapter of Bolo English in-person Masterclasses professional development opportunities to more than 125 teachers of Budget private Schools from Delhi and 195 teachers from Ambala, strengthening their classroom engagement and spoken English usages.

385 FEMALE STEM STUDENTS AWARDED WITH CCS-P&G SHIKSHA BETIYAN SCHOLARSHIP 2024

The CCS-P&G Shiksha Betiyan Scholarship, now in its second year, awarded scholarships to 385 deserving female students in STEM. These Scholars are from leading ITIs, engineering programs, and IIMs, receiving consistent mentoring alongside financial support aimed at nurturing young minds for a brighter future and creating a league of inspiring women leaders in STEM fields for years to come.

CCS at IIM Mumbai - P&G Equality & Inclusion Summit: CCS participated in the Equality summit at IIM Mumbai, engaging stakeholders to promote gender equality & debunk myths in STEM careers. Announcement for CCS-P&G Shiksha Betiyan Scholarship Awards winners was also made on this occasion.

SANRACHNA (संरचना): BECOMING WOMEN IN STEM

CCS and Procter & Gamble (P&G) India, under their CSR initiative Shiksha, recently commissioned the short film 'Sanrachna (संरचना)' by budding filmmaker Asambhava Shubha. Through a series of thought experiments and interviews, the film focuses on scientific temperament and gender biases related to STEM, as observed in the Indian education system.

MENTORSHIP:

CCS engaged P&G Shiksha Betiyan scholars in mentoring activities, beginning with 4-day workshops at selected Industrial Technical Institutes, including ITI Nalagarh and ITI Shimla. These workshops empowered female STEM students through soft-skill training, interview preparation activities, and personalised mentorship aimed at enhancing their communication and leadership skills. Mock interviews and resume writing sessions were conducted to boost their confidence for future job opportunities.

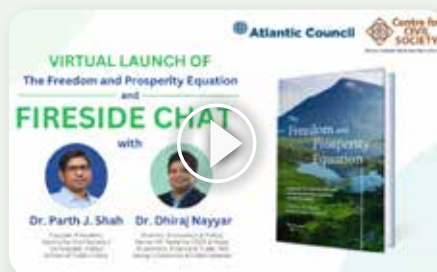

Our Betiyan scholars have received mentorship through in-person workshops, online mentoring sessions and multiple one-on-one telephonic mentoring by experts and professionals. Through this, we aim to guide scholars toward realistic STEM career goals, motivating them to actively pursue their aspirations. With the goal of building an inclusive and diverse STEM workforce for future, the mentoring month is pivotal in shaping an empowered generation of female STEM professionals and role-models.

Freedom & Prosperity

A roundtable discussion was conducted on January 24, 2024, aimed at understanding India's freedoms on the path to prosperity, as featured in the Freedom and Prosperity Index Report. The discussion involved 16 experts from diverse backgrounds, including researchers, economists, academics, lawyers, and political analysts.

Hosted a fireside chat with Dr Parth J. Shah and Dr Dhiraj Nayyar to unpack where India stands on the freedom & prosperity indices and how its 1.3 billion people can be put on the path to prosperity. This discussion also marked the launch of the book titled "The Freedom and Prosperity Equation". (4,106 views)

CCS will host the Mont Pelerin Society \(MPS\) General Meeting 2024 in New Delhi, India, from September 22-26, 2024, under the theme Freedom & Prosperity for the Next 6 Billion. While some nations have achieved wealth through freedom, a significant portion of the world—particularly in Asia, Africa, Eastern Europe, and Latin America—continues to face limited economic freedom and, as a result, restricted wealth creation.

What can be done to advance the cause of freedom and prosperity in these societies? This crucial question will be explored in the context of pressing global challenges and trends, including climate change and emerging technologies. The General Meeting 2024 will serve as a platform to unravel the complexities of prosperity, drawing insights from diverse perspectives and experiences worldwide.
